

MT. STERLING ADVOCATE.

VOLUME XXXI.

MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 1922.

NUMBER 53.

Greene & Duff Succeed I. F. Tabb

Newton Duff and Keller Greene have closed a deal whereby they become the owners of the coal, grain, feed and seed business of I. F. Tabb and took possession Monday morning. The style of the new firm will be Greene & Duff and is composed of two of Montgomery county's most popular and energetic young business men. Mr. Greene served this county two terms as county clerk and is widely acquainted and connected, being exceedingly popular wherever he is known. Mr. Duff is a brother of our popular sheriff, Charles E. Duff, and has been associated with Mr. Tabb for several months. He, like his partner, is widely connected with a large circle of friends throughout this section. They will continue to conduct the business along the same high plane as it has been conducted in the past and feel sanguine of success in their new venture. The same high grade lines as carried by Mr. Tabb will be handled by the new firm and by courteous treatment and correct business methods they hope to merit a large share of the business in their line.

School Bond Issue Valid

H. G. Hoffman, suing for himself and all other taxpayers filed an injunction suit in circuit court Friday against the board of education, seeking to enjoin the issue and sale of the $30,000 school improvement bonds which were voted at a special election held in this city March 4. The grounds on which the injunction was sought were certain alleged irregularities and defects in the proceedings and ordinance calling the election.

The case was heard on Saturday in chambers before Circuit Judge H. R. Prewitt who refused the injunction and held that all the steps taken relative to the issue of the bonds were regular and essential to be taken prior to the sale of the bonds, and that the board of education could lawfully proceed to advertise and sell the bonds. The case will now go to the court of appeals and will be passed upon at once.

Mrs. Taylor Dead

A message received here Saturday announced the sudden death of Mrs. William Taylor, which occurred at her home in Bushon, Ill. Mrs. Taylor was well known here and had many friends who will be grieved to learn of her passing. She was a sister of Charles B. Stephens, of this city. Mr. Stephens attended the funeral and burial services, which took place in Bushon.

ONE-CENT ALUMINUM SALE

In this issue appears the announcement of J. H. Keller's second big aluminumware sale, which will be held at his store Thursday. This is the second sale of this character held by the Keller store, the former proving so popular that many persons were disappointed in not securing the articles they wanted. There will be many more articles for this sale and to avoid another disappointment, it will be wise to be on hand promptly at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Follow the crowd and try to get in.

HORSE THIEF CAPTURED

John Redmon, alias John Grubbs, negro, ex-convict, charged with horse stealing, was captured at Little Rock, Bourbon county, Sunday by Chief of Police J. C. Tipton of this city, and Sheriff Sam Estill, of Bath county. The theft of the horse belonging to Henry Kelso was committed about a week ago at Preston, Redmon at the time stealing a lot of cured meat, which he sold. The negro was taken to Owingsville and placed in jail to await trial. He is said to be wanted in Clark county on similar charges.

Dr. J. F. Lockhart Dies Suddenly

After having been removed to his home Friday from the Mary Chiles Hospital following several days of continued improvement, Dr. J. F. Lockhart suffered a relapse Tuesday morning at about 10 o'clock and died within a few minutes. For a number of months Dr. Lockhart had been a sufferer from a form of blood poisoning and during the past few months had submitted to two operations. It was thought by his friends that he was on the road to recovery when the final summons came. Dr. Lockhart moved to this city from Kiddleville several years ago and up to the time of his illness was one of the leading practitioners of Montgomery county. He was a member of the Methodist church, and a most upright and honorable citizen, one whom to know was to honor and admire. His life was one of self-sacrifice and service, and in his passing Mt. Sterling has lost one of her most distinguished and useful Christian citizens. He is survived by his wife, who before marriage was Miss Emma Pieratt, and two daughters, Mrs. Ernest Ward May, of this county, and Mrs. Stewart Sharp, of this city; two brothers, A. P. Lockhart, of Hobart, Okla., and Dr. W. G. Lockhart, of Campton; three sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Wheeler, of Rocky, Okla.; Mrs. A. M. Griffith, of Rothwell, and Mrs. Henry Claypool, of Ezel.

Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed at the time of our going to press. Dr. Lockhart was about 70 years of age and his was a life well spent and rich will be his reward. The idol of his home, a tried and proven friend and counselor, his will be a place hard to fill in the life of the community in which he lived and served. To those who mourn we can only point to the spotless life led by this popular gentleman and while he is dead in the body, they should find surcease from sorrow in the thought that he has gone to his Heavenly home where suffering will be no more and he shall dwell with his Master, there to await his loved ones.

BUYS FARM

Claude Salyer, who recently sold his residence property in this city, has purchased of J. L. Robinson his farm of 69 acres on the Grassy Lick pike, known as the old Sleds place. The farm brought in the neighborhood of $14,000 and is a good one. Mr. and Mrs. Salyer and family will move to the place to live when possession is given. Mr. Robinson for the benefit of his health will soon go to Asheville, N. C., to spend several months, while his family will come to Mt. Sterling to live.

AWARDED DAMAGES

The compensation board has awarded to Harry Stephenson, of this city, damages against the Great Southern Refining Company for injuries sustained in 1920 while in their employ. Mr. Stephenson suffered a severe injury to his spine from which he has never recovered. He has been allowed $15 per week for the period from December 9, 1920, to April 4, 1922, and $9 per week from April 4, 1922 for a period of 332 weeks.

LOCAL BOY HONORED

Ben R. Turner, Jr., who is a student at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., has been signally honored by being elected business manager for the college year book for next year. This is considered quite a college honor and is a tribute not only to his class standing and business ability, but to his standing with his fellow students as well.

HAIL STORM

Last Friday between the homes of Charles Duff and Clarence White hail fell violently in size of small bird eggs. It frightened stock, but did no damage to either stock or property.

Directors Chosen For New Hotel Company

The meeting of the stockholders of the new hotel company met at the court house at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The meeting was called to order by J. P. Highland. Upon motion of L. T. Chiles, John A. Judy was nominated and elected chairman of the meeting. Mr. Judy at once took the chair and made a few brief remarks, stating that he hoped every stockholder would vote for the best interests of the company and not for their individual interests. H. G. Hoffman was nominated and elected secretary of the meeting. The next matter to come up was the election of a board of directors. Slips were passed around and the seven receiving the largest number of votes were declared elected.

They were J. A. Judy, J. O. Greene, C. B. Patterson, W. L. Thompson, W. B. White, R. G. Kern and H. G. Hoffman.

Immediately following the selection of the directors L. T. Chiles made a motion that the selection of a site be left to the newly elected directors. The motion was seconded by P. D. Bryan and put to a vote, carrying by a large majority.

The stockholders' meeting adjourned at 4:15 and at 8 o'clock tonight there will be a meeting of the directors for the purpose of organization.

It is not likely that the site will be selected for several days.

"Poultry Day" At University

Montgomery county farmers and their wives who are interested in improving their poultry flocks will be among those who will have a special invitation to attend the first "poultry day" to be held on the College of Agriculture farm at Lexington April 26, it has been announced. While the program for the event has been designed for farmers in all parts of the state, the college will make a special effort to have a large delegation from Montgomery county attend. The county is close enough to give farmers living in it a good opportunity to obtain new pointers on the care and management of their flocks, it is believed.

Following a description of the farm by J. H. Martin, in charge of the college poultry work, those who attend for the day will be shown the breeding pens where the mating of six different breeds will be explained, the brooders where 1,500 chicks of different ages are being reared under coal and oil burning brooders and the large laying house of the farm with 300 hens. The method of managing the laying flock together with the electric light experiment to increase egg production will be explained at this point.

In experiments now under way, the college poultrymen will explain those comparing sour skim milk, semi-solid buttermilk and meat scrap in the laying ration, those showing the value of limestone in the laying ration of hens, those showing the inheritance of eggshell color and skin color together with those designed to show the best type of poultry houses for various conditions. The use of various types of incubators including an 1,800 egg one together with several small ones also will be explained.

Addresses and discussions on a variety of poultry problems by Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the college; J. R. Smyth, extension poultryman, and Mr. Martin will help round out the day's activities.

The college poultry farm is said to be well equipped to help farmers with their poultry problems. It contains eight acres of land, has 800 birds on it and has an incubation capacity of 3,300 eggs. The highest producing Leghorn on the farm produced 260 eggs in a year, while the highest producing Wyandotte laid 48 eggs in the same time.

BUYS GELDING ON COURT DAY

Preston Muir on court day purchased of Matt Gay Ramsey a fine four-year-old sorrel gelding by Glenwood Chief. Mr. Muir expects to make a great show horse of his purchase.

Some people think they are so much better than others they expect to have private boxes reserved for them in heaven so they will not have to mingle with the common herd.

Disastrous Storm Hits Middle West

Twenty-one persons are known to be dead, more than 100 injured and thousands made homeless by tornadoes and floods which swept over the central west yesterday.

Tornadoes were reported in a score of Illinois, Indiana and Arkansas towns. Home were demolished, wire service ripped and livestock killed. Throughout the area from Ohio on the east to Kansas and Nebraska on the west heavy downpours swelled flood waters of streams already out of their banks and inundated thousands of acres of rich farm land in addition to the vast tracts already under water.

While snow and sleet covered Colorado, the states of Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa were pelted with heavy hailstorms which smashed windows and caused much damage to crops. Several inches of snow were reported from Denver.

The storm is believed to have been the same which lashed several towns in northeastern Kansas Sunday night, killing several persons and then jumped over Missouri only to reappear early Monday in southern Illinois.

FATTY'S LIBERTY COST $110,000

The defense of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle in the three manslaughter trials in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe cost more than $110,000, not including attorney's fees.

It is planned to release all of the Arbuckle films that were completed at the time of his arrest, it has been announced. Arbuckle himself has no immediate plans. He refused to appear in a monologue in San Francisco theaters. The offer was made immediately after his acquittal.

"I do not care to capitalize my good fortune as soon after achieving it," Arbuckle said. "There is a sentimentalism attached to the experience of acquittal that must come before any commercialism. I will return to my profession when I consider it proper to do so."

MISSION BAND GIVES ENTERTAINMENT

The Mission Band of the Christian church, under the direction of Mrs. George R. Snyder, assisted by Mrs. Mary Prewitt Turley, gave an excellent program of songs and recitations in the auditorium of the church Sunday night in the presence of a large and appreciative audience. The music was furnished by Mrs. Emilee H. Reid, Billy Reid and Miss Alice Bright, violinist. A beautiful solo by Mr. S. M. Whitehead was one of the features of the program.

BIDS FOR BUILDING SCHOOL HOUSE

Bids for building an additional room to the Howard's Mill school house will be received in the office of the county superintendent not later than May 1, 1922. The board of education reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Plans and specifications are in the superintendent's office.—M. J. Goodwin, Superintendent of Schools.

LEWIS KILPATRICK TO READ SHORT STORY

Lewis Kilpatrick will read one of his short stories at the History Club rooms Friday, April 21, at 2:30 p. m. The musical program will be rendered by the high school orchestra and four of Miss Lida Goodpastor's boys pupils. Members have the privilege of bringing friends on this occasion.

Mrs. N. H. Trimble returned today from a Lexington hospital, where for several weeks she had been under treatment for a broken hip bone. That she is able to return home so much improved will be glad news to her many friends.

John W. Wilson Enters On Rest

After having been under the care of a physician for the past 35 years, John W. Wilson on Sunday morning, April 16, at 1:30 o'clock departed this life. He was 76 years old. He was born and raised in this county, where he was twice married. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Cora Stout; one son, John Samuel Wilson; three brothers, James R., R. D. and F. M. Wilson, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at his late home Monday afternoon by Rev. Clyde Darsie and Rev. B. W. Trimble, after which the body was buried in Macbelpah cemetery. Mr. Wilson was a member of the Christian church, where for many years he was a regular attendant and communicant and had always been regarded as one of Montgomery county's best citizens, and in all matters his word was as good as his bond. His family sustains a serious loss by his going, and his neighbors and his friends as well. Peace to his ashes.

Spratt House Opened

On Friday, April 14, the Spratt House of the Mary Chiles Hospital was opened to the public with a reception held by the hospital staff and members of the board. Guests registered, were served tea and invited to inspect the cottage, fresh with new furnishings and a wealth of spring flowers. Over 100 men and women called during the afternoon and saw in the Mrs. Clifton Prewitt room, the Albert Hoffman room and in all the house abundant evidence of the generosity of many people. The day marked the milestone of a year—the first year of service of the Mary Chiles Hospital.

With each succeeding month since April, 1921, the hospital has grown in usefulness, reaching out more and more into the hearts of the community until the uncertainty of success felt a year ago has dissolved in the certainty of today. "The" hospital now has become "our" hospital and is indispensable.

The generosity that has established and the faithfulness that has maintained it give hope for continued growth. The future very surely holds for the Mary Chiles Hospital further extension of that service to humanity to which it was dedicated.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

Mrs. Ben Turner, who is coaching the senior play, was assisted last week by Miss Katherine Conroy, of State University. Miss Conroy is one of the leading members of the University Strollers, and her assistance was of great benefit to the cast of "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy." The cast is working day and night now to give the public an excellent performance on the night of April 27, and they hope that they will be able to play to a full house. The proceeds of the play will be used for installing something needed in the new building.

Mt. Sterling April Court Crowd Large

The cattle that reached here and took pens came largely from Eastern Kentucky and were high grade individuals and in fair condition. The greater portion of this stock sold by the head and a fair estimate was that they brought at least one cent per pound in advance of what they brought at the March court.

There were sold from the pens about 2,000 head and more than 250 head were purchased by parties who met the cattle in transit.

Calves brought from $9.75 to $12.75. Four calves brought $31.70; seven heifers brought $31.75 per head; eight steers brought $33.80 per head; four oxen brought $40 each.

George Maze sold a bunch of steers at 6 1-2 cents and another at 7 cents. Mr. Maze sold an extra good bunch at 7 1-4 cents.

The Shorthorn Breeders' Association had on the market 20 head of shorthorn bulls that brought from $49 to $125, making an average of $66 per head. This was an auction sale and was made by Col. Clayton Howell.

There were many mules on the market, with only a few selling. They brought from $75 to $200 per head. One pair changed hands at $475. No sales of high class horses were reported, but plugs under the hammer brought from $10 to $65 per head, every cent that they were worth. The number of cattle Monday was about double what was reported at the April, 1921, court.

Everybody was in high spirits and claimed they had made money on their purchases. In the city business was reported good and many persons were prepared and did pay their outstanding bills. The Advocate felt the effects of the approaching good times.

Former Citizen Passes the Great Divide

S. D. Everett, aged about 60 years, son of the late Marcus and Elizabeth Everett, died at his home in Granite, Okla., Sunday, April 15, after having been sick for several months. The body was buried at Granite. He is survived by his wife and four children and one sister, Mrs. J. Morgan Wells, of Fort Worth, Texas, and was a nephew of Mrs. D. J. Burdell and a cousin of Albert, Marion and Walter Bridges and Mrs. J. Will Clay, all of this county.

Mr. Everett left here about 25 years ago to make Oklahoma his home, where he resided until death came. To the widow, children, sister and other sorrowing ones we extend our sympathy.

BUSY PEOPLE SHOULD

READ NEWSPAPER GUIDE

The newspaper that carries a good line of advertisements is to the shopper what the time table is to the traveler and the published guide is to the tourist. Busy people will study these advertisements in the home or in the office as they do a time table, and before they start out shopping they have determined where they are going.

The newcomer or the visitor in the city finds the advertising columns of a newspaper a reliable guide to follow, just as he finds the printed guide for tourists to points of interest a matter of interest and time-saving. In fact, the stores, the mills and the theaters are points of interest to all tourists, and the non-advertiser puts himself outside the pale of interest so far as strangers are concerned.

THE CRUCIBLE OF LIFE
Sunshine and shadow, blue sky and gray.
Laughter and tears as we tread on our way.
Hearts that are heavy, then hearts that are light;
Eyes that are misty, and eyes that are bright.
Losses and gains in the heat of the strife.
Each in proportion to round out this life.
Into the crucible stirred by the years.
Glad all our hopes and misgivings and fears.
Glad days and sad days, our pleasures and pains.
Worries and comforts, our losses and gains.
Out of the crucible shall there not come.
Joy undimmed when we pour off the scum?
Out of the sadness and anguish and woe.
Out of the "travail and burdens we know."
Out of the shadow that darkens the way.
Out of the failure that tries us today.
Have you a doubt that contentment will come
When you've prided life and discarded the scum?
Flattered with sorrows and flattered with sigh;
Moistened with tears that have flown from your eyes,
Perfumed with sweetness of loves that have died,
Leavened with failures, with grief sanctified.
Sacred and sweet in the joy that must come.
From the furnace of life when you've poured off the scum.
It isn't company that misery loves, but merely an audience.

MORE SHRUBS BEING USED FOR GROUND IMPROVEMENT

Interest among Kentucky farmers as well as owners of city property in the beautifying of their home grounds by means of planting shrubs has been increased steadily during the past few years, according to N. R. Elliott, of the College of Agriculture. Three varieties of shrubs have been found to be especially good for individual plantings while seven others have predominated in hedge and screen plantings.

Dogwood, one of the three varieties for individual specimens, grows 15 to 20 feet high and has white or red flowers that bloom in May. This is a tree that requires plenty of space for development.

Smokewood, another shrub that makes good individual specimens, grows about 12 feet high and blooms in July. This tree is distinctive in that the bloom is in flowering clusters. It is popular for planting on the edge of open vistas.

Judas tree, the third specimen for individual plantings, grows to be 10 to 12 feet high and has a rose-pink blossom that blooms in April and May. This shrub is one that blooms before the leaves appear.

For hedges and screens, Japanese barberry has proved to be one of the most popular, this shrub growing from three to four feet high. It is a hardy plant with heavy green foliage that produces scarlet berries in the autumn.

Hydrangea grows 6 to 10 feet high and has a white or rose colored flower that blooms from July to September. It is one of the good flowering shrubs that blooms late in the summer.

Privet grows to about eight feet and is considered one of the best shrubs for hedges. The plants should be set from 8 to 10 inches apart in a staggering row.

Japan quince grows to be from 6 to 8 feet high and has a scarlet flower that blooms in May. When set from 15 to 18 inches apart these plants make a dense bed that requires little pruning.

Spiraea, which grows from 6 to 8 feet high, aborvitae, which grows from 4 to 12 feet high, and hawthorne, growing from 6 to 10 feet high, are other shrubs that are popular for hedge and screen plantings.

BEAN ACREAGE TO BE LARGER

Following the good results obtained by farmers in McCreary county, the acreage of this crop is to be increased at least 300 per cent this year, County Agent W. B. Woodward says. Only 30 acres of beans were grown in the county last year, according to Mr. Woodward. Already this year 53 bushels of certified seed have been purchased by farmers in the county, he added.

EASY ON THE BRAIN

Occasionally we hear of a brainy man who reads action stories in order to divert his mind from the strenuousness of his career. He finds relaxation, and it is good for him.

Stories founded upon the wild and woolly days of the early west appeal to him. The heroes are genuine "he men," with oceans of red blood in their veins, and he thrills as he reads of their marvelous exploits.

But he misses the best of all action stories.

He should read the Bible.

No writer of modern or other fiction has ever been able to duplicate the wonders that are told in that book.

No human mind has ever been able to fully grasp the import of the deeds recorded therein.

It is the only book that has ever been written that holds its own against the lapse of an eternity of time.

Even brainy men may find rest and relaxation in reading of the glories that are told in the Book of Books. Try it.

Are You For Fair Play?

Of course you are, or you would not be a 100 per cent American. Nobody likes unfair competition. The party who is running the red bus on our line between Paris, North Middletown and Mt. Sterling has nothing in common with our line, and has undertaken the job of undermining us by running his bus a little ahead of our schedule. All this after his admission that the undersigned had been very good to him while working for us, and also admitted that there was really no room on this line for two busses. We feel that, since after two other parties tried this line and gave it up, and since we stuck to the job and lost several hundred dollars at the beginning in building up this line, you, good people, after once understanding what kind of a dirty deal we are up against, will gladly stick to us and use only the "Olive Drab" colored bus. Tell your friends and stand by the man who has given you reasonable rates from the start, polite service and exact schedule time. Our bus will maintain the advertised schedule. LOW EGG PRICE USHERS

IN PRESERVING SEASON

Thousands of dozens of Kentucky eggs will be placed in water glass during the coming few months while eggs are cheap for use next winter when prices for this product soar, according to poultrymen at the College of Agriculture. Use of the water glass method of preserving makes it possible to have winter eggs, at about one-half of what fresh ones would cost, the poultrymen say.

Eggs can be kept fresh as long as a year by the following method, according to J. R. Smyth, extension poultryman:

"Only absolutely fresh eggs should be preserved, candling being advisable if there is any doubt as to their freshness. Dirty eggs or eggs that have been washed should not be used. Washed eggs will not keep because the protective covering, has been removed while dirty eggs will become tainted in flavor. Infertile eggs should be used whenever it is possible to obtain them.

"Commercial water glass, which which may be bought at any drug store, is used at the rate of one quart to nine quarts of water that has been boiled and then cooled. The mixture is stirred until the ingredients are thoroughly mixed.

"A clean stone jar has been found to be the most suitable container, one eight-gallon jar being sufficient for 15 dozen eggs. One quart of the water glass and nine of water will preserve this quantity. The eggs are placed in the solution so that those at the top are covered by at least two inches of liquid after which the jar should be covered to prevent evaporation. The jar needs to be stored in a cool place where it will be undisturbed.

"The housekeeper who wants to save steps need not go to the jar every time she wishes an egg, but may take enough out of the solution to last several days, providing she has a cool place to keep them. Eggs may be added to the solution from time to time without danger of spoiling those already in it."

A FAST AGE

We make rapid strides in this country, and as soon as one stride is completed we start off on another.

A year or two ago the aeroplane was the whole thing. Now it is but an incident in our daily life. It has ceased to thrill.

The all absorbing topic today is the radiophone, the latest wireless invention.

You all know about it—how you place an instrument in the house, stick a receiver up in the top of a tree, and then sit back and listen to market reports or a concert being given a thousand miles away. You may even dance to the latest popular pieces if you desire, or you can listen to a sermon instead of going to church.

Even the officials of the University of Wisconsin have got the bug, and are arranging to educate the public by wireless.

It's a great stunt. What will the next one be?—Central Record.

LEGUMES GAIN FAVOR AMONG LARUE FARMERS

Legume crops are coming to occupy a more important place in the crop rotations of Larue county farmers, County Agent J. W. Jones says. In one community more than 208 acres of sweet clover already have been seeded and plans are under way for seeding 30 acres of alfalfa. The community also will have more than 75 acres of soybeans and cowpeas for hay this summer, Mr. Jones declared.

American Legion News

A legion commander for the first time made use of the radio telephone in broadcasting a message to the ex-service men of America when Hanford MacNider stood in Detroit, Mich., and from station WWJ sent an Easter greeting that was heard in all middle western states and as far south as the gulf.

The fine points of bravery are not unknown to Governor Harry L. Davis, of Ohio, but when he was asked to pick the bravest ex-soldier in Ohio to represent the Buckeye population at a national assemblage in San Francisco he declined the responsibility. At his request the American Legion undertook the selection.

Poison gas which A. M. Thompson, Cheyenne, Wyo., policeman, inhaled in France during the war four years ago had just caused him to lose 26 teeth, according to a report made by the American Legion. The policeman recovered from a long illness after the teeth had been removed.

Smarting red eyes among Brooklyn, N. Y., school children caused several shop owners to be haled into court. It was found that merchants were selling a war-time device for purifying water consumed by soldiers as "toy bombs," which threw off poison fumes upon exploding.

A community playground will be erected by the American Legion at Nashville, Tenn., the ex-soldiers bearing the expense of apparatus and upkeep.

So confident are the ex-service men of Emporia, Kan., that the adjusted compensation measure will be passed by the senate that the American Legion members of that place have pledged $3,000 of the expected money to be used as the nucleus of a fund to erect a suitable community club house.

In Korea, where Ford's cost $1,012, former members of the A. E. F. have banded themselves together under the leadership of M. L. Swineheart, treasurer of the Southern Presbyterian mission of the Hermit Kingdom, and formed a post of the American Legion. About a dozen ex-fighters, most of them missionaries, make up the post membership.

Former navy radio operators and members of the army signal corps have organized under the auspices of the American Legion in Nebraska and are broadcasting market reports, weather forecasts and weekly musical concerts to the rapidly growing legion of wireless telephone users.

The aid of Mayor Curley, of Boston, Mass., other city officials, the American Legion and the American consul at Sidney, N. S., was required before a Yank ex-service man who was "stranded" with his family in Nova Scotia, could be brought back to his Boston home. The legion paid the bills the man had incurred and the officials unwound the necessary red tape.

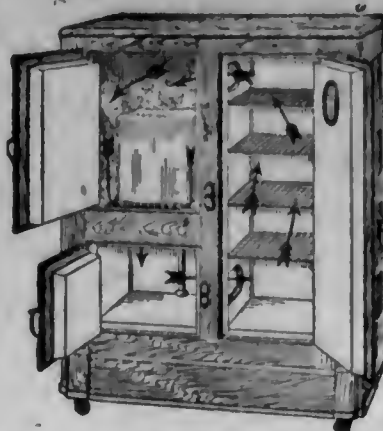

The superstition that all army top sergeants are "hard boiled" took wing when an investigator unearthed one ex-top kick in Chicago who is spending his time trying to locate jobs for ex-service men as his part of the American Legion's campaign to find work for world war veterans.

When two desperate criminals broke jail at Springfield, Tenn., and took refuge in the woods, the chief of police called on the American Legion after his own force had failed in its effort to capture his former guests. The ex-service men formed a battle line and the two fugitives were landed back in the calaboose.

Judge Harry S. Keldan, of Detroit, Mich., opening his court for business, found that the entire jury panel had been snapped up by other jurors. His Honor asked the American Legion to further the cause of justice with a result that a new set of ten talesmen, all jobless ex-service men, was impaneled.

A thorough canvass of the ex-service men of Stuttgart, Ark., failed to bring to light a single unemployed veteran. The unemployment committee of the American Legion was formed to function so it dug up two jobs for men already employed which were better than the ones they had.

Hanging in the room which Marshal Foch, of France, has reserved in his home for the thousands of presents he received while touring the United States under the auspices of the American Legion are the keys to eleven of America's largest cities. All the gifts which America bestowed on the marshal are in his "American room" except the famous Montana bobcat, which now paces a cage in the Paris zoological gardens.

Time has so thinned the ranks of the G. A. R. at St. Cloud, Minn., that the few remaining members have voted to disband and turn over to the American Legion the responsibility of observing Memorial and other days on which the boys of '61 have honored their dead comrades for more than half a century.

PASTURES ARE PARCHED ANNUALLY IN KENTUCKY

Kentucky has a drouth practically every year according to livestock men at the College of Agriculture. In some seasons, the lack of rainfall is felt for a few weeks only while in other years it continues for months. In practically all cases, the lack of rain during the summer is sufficient to parch pastures in the state, the most serious damage usually coming in August. It is said. Dairymen suffer most heavily from the dry season, the parched pastures resulting in decreased milk and butterfat production, the livestock men say.

By means of a number of experiments which have been conducted, the college has found that Sudan grass makes a good crop to furnish green feed for dairy cows during the summer drouths, according to J. H. Hooper, head of the dairy department. Six acres of it will be seeded this spring, he said. From 20 to 30 pounds of seed an acre will be broadcasted in May or early June, the chief requirement being a well prepared seed bed of warm soil. The seed also may be drilled.

On the college farm, Sudan grass seeded in May has yielded as much as five tons of green feed an acre in early August while a second cutting is possible about the middle of September. The grass is cut with a mower and hauled to the cows, each animal receiving about 50 pounds of green grass daily.

Green corn also can be used for cow feed during the drouth, but a heavier yield of green feed will be secured at less cost and labor from the use of Sudan grass, the dairy men say.

Some people think they are so much better than others they expect to have private boxes reserved for them in heaven so they will not have to mingle with the common herd.

McHENRY RHOADS FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF STATE SCHOOLS

Returning educators from the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association, in session last week at Louisville, affirm the prophecy of the Courier-Journal several months ago that McHenry Rhoads would consent to be a candidate for superintendent of public instruction.

Mr. Rhoads needs no introduction to the people of Kentucky. The mention of advance in Kentucky education immediately presents his name. As head of the department of education at Kentucky University, as former supervisor of high schools of the state and as instructor in education, he is known and loved by all, respected and esteemed by his fellow educators from north, south, east and west. The conscientious service that he has rendered to the state of Kentucky cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

That a man of the training in education and of the outstanding ability of Mr. Rhoads has consented to allow his name to be presented to the people of Kentucky is evidence not only of his love for the loyalty to the educational interests of the state, but is a striking indication of the enthusiasm of prominent educators throughout the state and of their united determination to profit by the Rockefeller survey and to lift Kentucky from her ignominious position as third from the last in the educational ranks of the states to one that all Kentuckians may regard with pride.

We congratulate the citizens of Kentucky upon the opportunity for saying at the next election, "I stand for the best in education."

RETIREES FROM ACTIVE MERCANTILE BUSINESS

Thirty-seven years ago I. F. Tabb cast his lot with the good people and the active business interests of Mt. Sterling. He came to grow with the city and to become in every way a financial success, and, like the spirited horse on the race course, champing at the bit at the word go, he soon forged to the front with the staying qualities that enabled him to hold his place. It mattered not the opposition. We consider I. F. Tabb one of our safest and yet most aggressive business men. If a crotch horse was to be constructed he gave of his earnings and likewise in schools and whatever was for the betterment of the moral and business conditions of Mt. Sterling, we know where to place I. F. Tabb. His family has been born, reared and educated in Mt. Sterling. His family is of our most highly cultured citizenship, and notwithstanding one of them has cast her lot in the great western city, all of them are heart and hand with the people of Mt. Sterling. Mr. Tabb has accumulated sufficiently so that while he retires from a most active line of business, he will continue one of our busiest men and by material aid and counsel will continue with the onward interests of our growing city.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS A COMING ISSUE

Former Democratic nominee for the presidency, James M. Cox, of Ohio, threw a firebrand into the Republican camp when he declared the issue that would be paramount in the coming national election would be the League of Nations. Republicans have made their best efforts to formulate peace leagues away from the one offered by former President Woodrow Wilson, and the greater they labored to this end the heavier the mist, and today they have a divided party led by their strongest men.

Such a condition forebadows coming events.

ARE YOU MARRIED? READ

Judge Florence E. Allen, Cleveland, Ohio, perhaps America's most widely known woman jurist, has four rules for happy marriages. They are:

1. The wife should have a regular allowance. Money matters cause many divorces.
2. The husband should make a business partner of his wife. She should share his confidence in all matters.
3. The wife should be sympathetic.
4. The wife should never nag her husband. She should work with him.

In the last two terms of court Judge Allen has tried 397 divorce cases, more than have been tried by any other two judges in America.

Amplifying her four rules, Judge Allen offers some pertinent opinions on the "divorce evil" in America.

"Hasty marriages are the most common cause of divorce. Young people today marry hastily, not realizing the personal responsibility. They are ready to quit at the first quarrel.

"I recall one divorce petition where the quarrel was over the naming of a baby. It was their first quarrel, too. I reconciled them.

"Women sometimes make the lives of their husbands miserable by nagging."

Most divorce laws, Judge Allen believes, are not too liberal, but are too liberally administered.

"The longer a case is pending the greater chance there is for a reconciliation," she declared. "Often when a case is called I find that the parties are made up and don't want separation."

She has reconciled 101 couples and granted 246 divorces.

MARY'S DRESS

Mary had a low-neck dress which fitted to perfection, and wore it everywhere, I guess, against her Ma's objection. She also had an auto car, which likely made her dizzy—she couldn't seem to go nowher without the doggone Lizzy. She motored through the chill night air, without regard to season. She hadn't no brains to spare, and never stopped to reason. At last she got a sneeze and cough, which drew her to a fren-right off pronounced it influenzy! They put her in her little bed, while pangs of anguish filled her. The blasted germs flew to her head, and mighty nearly killed her. But still the doctor lingered near, until he got 'em busted, and Mary's low-neck dress, I bear, has made him plumb disgusted. And now, when Mary's out at night, her collarbone is hidden, and little Mary doth delight to do as she is bidden.

If you have a bad habit, break it or it will break you.

WILD ONIONS CAUSING TROUBLE FOR DAIRYMEN
Wild onions are again causing many Kentucky dairymen trouble in the form of tainted milk, according to inquiries being received at the College of Agriculture. The only known way to handle the problem is to take cows out of pastures infested with the weed several hours before milking time, J. J. Hooper, head of the college dairy department, says.

"We have found that much of the trouble can be eliminated by turning the cows into the infested pastures immediately after they have been milked and then taking them out in three or four hours and placing them in a barn lot or clean pasture until they are milked. It is well also to pour the milk over a cooler as this helps to get rid of some of the onion odor and flavor."

And this would be a nicer world if men would go as far to do something for a friend as they will to do something to an enemy.

HOW WESLEY BARRY, STAR, JUMPED INTO MOVIE FAME

Only thirteen years of age!

With an irresistible personality bespecked by a wealth of freckles!

In the short space of a few years Wesley Barry, the inimitable screen luminary, has forged his way to the top run of cinema fame, and he has won his way into the hearts of all motion picture enthusiasts.

The careers of all famous men who have achieved distinction in the social and commercial world reveals the fact that they had to go through some trying experiences in order to reach their cherished goal. But Wesley, apparently, seems to have fallen right into the lap of fame.

It all happened in a very simple, unostentatious manner. And Wesley, modestly and unassuming, recites the incident as an every day occurrence. "Well," he began, shifting about uneasily, "I was havin' a fight with a coupler kids when a man stopped me. It was the only chance I had of gettin' even with the kids, and I was kind'er sore. Anyway, the man looked at me and gave me some money, and after that it was all hunky-dory, because he said he was all gonner use me as an actor in the movies. That's all!"

The person referred to by Wesley is none other than that astute motion picture producer, Marshall Neilan, who is responsible for a great many film successes. Mr. Neilan had just left his studio for lunch when he noticed a crowd of youngsters. He became curious and upon approaching the crowd he witnessed one of the best kid scraps he can ever hope to film for a motion picture. Several youngsters were lambasting the daylights out of one poor freckle-faced boy.

Of course, Mr. Neilan stopped the scrap and therupon discovered a forlorn and ragged little creature, barefooted and with a wealth of freckles, muttering, "Mister, Mister, I wish you would let me alone, because it's the only chance I had to get even with them tough guys!"

One look at the freckle-faced boy convinced Mr. Neilan that here was a little film prodigy. Wesley has more than fulfilled all expectations in the realm of the silent drama as an actor. He has shared honors with Mary Pickford in "Daddy Long Legs," he's been seen in "Dinty," "Go and Get It" and a number of other screen successes.

But, according to Wesley, his biggest ambition—in fact, that moment which can truly be called the greatest moment in the history of one's career, came when he was selected to play the leading role in "School Days," his latest starring vehicle. So enthusiastic and so rapt up was he in the irresponsible, untamable heart of the boy in the story, that he stoutly declared he would emulate the mischievous youngster and go him one better on the screen. How well he has succeeded can best be gleaned from William Nigh, his director—a man, by the way, who has been an author, playwright and an actor of no mean ability.

"In my estimation," said Nigh, "he has done the greatest piece of work of his career. And it isn't because he was under my direction. The boy is a born actor. The director can only control the by-play of an actor, and he can suggest different facial expressions and mannerisms. Then it is up to the player, and in the case of Wesley—well, you'd better go and see the picture."

up from one-fourth to one-third of the total income from the state's flocks, the chief object of the Kentucky sheep raiser being the production of lambs for market, it is said. Late sheared fleeces are heavier than the early sheared because the fiber has grown slightly longer and more yolk has been secreted, it is claimed.

Proper attention to the handling of the wool crop offers possibilities for materially increasing the income from the flocks, according to L. J. Horlacher, in charge of the College of Agriculture sheep work. Some of the suggestions he has outlined for shearing follow:

Remove burs before shearing.
Never shear wet sheep.

Keep the sheep in dry, clean pens that are free from dust.

Have the shearing floor smooth, clean and bright.

Keep straw and thrash out of the wool.

Remove the fleece in one piece without any second cuts.

Roll the fleece toward the neck, flesh side out.

Tie with a strand of wool or paper twine.

Use only two strings to the fleece, one each way.

Do not roll or tie the fleece too tightly.

Immediately after shearing pack the fleeces in wool sacks. One sack should hold from 175 to 200 pounds. Store the sacks in a dry place.

POOR WOMAN!

A banker sued his wife for divorce because she spent $3,500 a year for cosmetics.

If she hadn't used the cosmetics to make herself beautiful he probably would have tired of her sooner than he did. In any event it is generally the woman who loses when marital troubles creep in.

When a man becomes bald headed and dignified he can discard his aging wife and go out and pick up a "chicken," one who does not require cosmetics to put the bloom on her rounded cheeks.

But not so the woman. When age overtakes her she must travel along with others who have passed the meridian of life. There are no bucks available for the woman who has lost her charm.—Central Record.

SEASONAL GARDEN TIPS

By May 1 it is safe to plant string beans, cantaloupes, sweet corn and cucumbers. The second planting of such crops as peas, lettuce and radishes also may be made about the same time.

Cucumbers are best planted in hills about four feet apart each way, specialists at the College of Agriculture say. The soil in these hills should be thoroughly prepared to a depth of from 8 to 12 inches and a fork of well rotted manure placed in each hill and covered with about two inches of soil. From eight to ten seeds usually are placed in each hill. White Spine or Davis Perfect are good varieties.

Planting 6 to 12 hills of cantaloupes extends the usefulness of the garden. Rocky Ford, Netted Gem and Tip Top are good varieties. They should be planted in hills much the same as cucumbers.

Although much ordinary field corn is used for table purposes, many people say there is no comparison between the former and the true varieties of sweet corn when flavor is considered. Golden Bantam, Adams Early, Country Gentleman and Stowell's Evergreen are said to be good varieties.

Pepper and tomato plants for early fruit should be ready to place in the garden about May 1. Both are set from 18 to 24 inches apart in rows that are 24 to 30 inches apart.

A thankful heart is not only the greatest virtue, but the parent of all other virtues.

GIRL WINS PRIZE FOR POEM TO WATTERSON

First prize has been awarded to Miss Ruth Wilson for a poem to Henry Watterson in a contest conducted by the Kentucky Cardinal, a fiscal publication of the University of Louisville. The poem follows:

To Marse Henry
There's a bonny flag a-wavin'
In the heavenly field today,
And there's singin' and rejoicin'
'Mid the ranks of Blue and Gray.

For every soldier's smilin'
At the lightness of his pack,
And all his troubles vanish
'Cause Marse Henry's comin' back.

The band is playin' "Dixie"
And the ranks are marchin' by,
As our beloved Marse Henry
Joins the troops up in the sky.

Each pickin'neer angel
Dancin' 'round the heavenly throne
Seems to shout a glad home comin'
For Marse Henry's comin' back.

Ho has fought the valiant battle,
With his musket and his pen,
And he's takin' up his duties
On the heavenly press again.

There is joy and peace in heaven,
So let's soothe away our pain,
And remember through our sorrow
That earth's loss is heaven's gain.

HOLD ON TO YOUR GOVERNMENT SECURITIES

"Keep your war savings stamps," is what Lew Wallace, Jr., director of savings, treasury department, says to the people who hold such government securities. "Do not allow these savings to pass into the hands of speculators and suffer a loss," he added. "Hold them until they are due and the government will pay their full face value, and the purchasers will get all that the government intended they should receive when they invested their money. When cashing their stamps the people should invest them in new treasury savings certificates which have taken the place of the war savings stamps as government securities sold in small amounts."

War savings stamps issued in 1918 will mature January 1, 1923, and will be redeemed at par. The war savings stamps were issued in unit denominations at $5. When purchased the first month in the year they were sold for $4.12, and the sale price increased one cent each month to the end of the year. These stamps have always been redeemable, the redemption value increasing month by month in the same proportion as the purchase price increased. The $5.00 stamp issued in 1918 is worth $5.63 at the present time. Next January it will be worth $5, a difference of 37 cents. Director Wallace takes occasion to warn holders of these stamps not to sacrifice the profit between present redemption prices and the par value price which the government will pay, even if the scalpers offer more than the government now pays when cashing the stamps. He believes it is far better for the holders of the stamps to tide over any pressing necessity in order to receive the full value of the stamps, as the government intended. One great advantage to the purchaser of the treasury savings certificates, new issue, he says, is that they are not transferable, and the holder cannot sell them to the scalpers as they near maturity.

"It would appear that the person who is trying to save is beset on all sides," said Director Wallace. "Those who bought war savings stamps were generally people of small means with limited savings. For the most part they were patriotically inclined, and bought because they wanted to help the government with money in time of war. Many of them of necessity have sold their stamps or redeemed them at the places of purchase. Now, those issued in 1918 are approaching the period of their greatest value, and the every ready sharper is trying to shave off a part of the savings of these people by offering them a slight increase over the present redemption prices. The government does not offer pro rata redemption prices for its savings securities. Its policy is to encourage savings; to induce the investor to hold until maturity and then re-invest. The new issue of savings certificates provides for redemption at any time, paying 3 1/2 per cent interest during the time of investment. But to encourage these investors to make the best of their savings, interest is paid at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent compounded semi-annually if the certificates are held until maturity, which is five years. Another advantage of the new savings certificate is that they are all sold at the same price no matter what time of the year they are

STIMULATE YOUR SKIN

The skin with its net work of tiny pores and glands should never be allowed to become sluggish and inactive. Dirt, cold cream, rouge and powder will clog the pores, enlarge them and produce blackheads and blemishes unless the skin is cleansed thoroughly with soap and water at least once every day.

This simple method of beautifying was Cleopatra's secret. She knew that to have a fresh fine skin thorough cleansing was necessary. She used Palm and Olive oils, the same rare oils which are blended in Palmolive.

If you use a fine mild soap, there is no danger of irritation. Palmolive with its creamy lather, is lotion-like in its action. It freshens, revives and stimulates and leaves the skin delightfully fresh and rosy.

PAY $5,000,000 A DAY TO SUFFER!

Now is the time for the government to dig out actual facts regarding the coal situation. It is worse than childish to go on year after year grinding the public between the nether millstones—it is vicious. The present strike is costing $5,000,000 a day, and the reward of this sacrifice is public suffering. The charge is flatly made that the average net income of 31,979 miners in the central Pennsylvania district in 1921 was $760. This means that a miner must provide for the support of his family on $14.60 a week. It may be all very well to state that the men work only 122 days a year, which is two and one-third days a week and, therefore, their rate of pay is excessive, but if these be the facts, then the problem is one of unemployment rather than wages, and it should be approached from that angle. An industry that employs vast armies of men for a third of each week and cannot keep them employed the rest of the time needs some kind of reorganization. The situation breeds discontent and when the peculiar characteristics of foreign labor are considered some time worse than that. Plain facts stand out and will not be denied. First in the handling of a great national necessity, it is evident that the private owners of the coal mines make vast sums of money and the men who dig the wealth from the ground are compelled to face starvation or next to it. It seems futile to suggest a commission of inquiry unless there be put behind such a commission means of enforcing its findings. The American commission of inquiry has come to be the joke of the world. The former attorney general, Mr. Palmer, can testify to that. Surely, however, the country is not in such a supine condition that it cannot solve the coal problem.

We know a man who says it is easy to be converted after you have become too old to be mean.

CAPTAIN COX

"That fellow from Ohio talks as though he does not know he was licked in 1920."

The darkey who made that comment on a recent speech delivered by James M. Cox to the South Carolina general assembly could not have spoken more to the point. Mr. Cox was not licked in 1920. He was not licked because the great ideal for which he stood—the Wilson ideal of world peace—was not licked, and is not going to be licked.

Mr. Cox showed incontrovertibly in his speech before the Woodrow Wilson club here Wednesday night that the much vaunted 7,000,000 majority for Harding in the 1920 election was no mandate against the League of Nations. That 7,000,000 majority was united on nothing except a desire for a "change." It was made up of all the hyphenates; all the racial elements which were dissatisfied with straight Americanism; all the superficial elements which had a grievance against the war administration; of the masses who were rebellious against high prices and high taxes; of the masses who were tired of war tension and war conditions; of the masses who always attribute the cause of their discontent to the party in power; of the rank and file of the Republicans bent on getting the "ins" out in order to get the "outs" in; to whom must be added those other Republicans who voted for Harding because they believed the assurances of such Republican leaders as Hughes, Hoover and Taft that to elect Harding was the only way to get the United States into the League of Nations.

No one issue could have been made the dominating issue in that heterogeneous campaign. Certainly no such question as the League of Nations, whose appeal must be to informed intelligence and unprejudiced thought, could have been made a dominating issue. Mr. Wilson's great mistake, as the Courier-Journal has often regretted, was in submitting the question to a popular referendum which could not be dissociated from the passions and cross-currents of such a political campaign as that of 1920 was bound to be.

The League of Nations is not "deceased," as Mr. Harding boasted it was immediately after his election; nor will its ideal ever be deceased in this country as long as there are in either of the great political parties leaders possessing Mr. Cox's vision, identity and courage.

It was a resonant rallying call he sounded to all Americans who are faithful to the ideals they were glad to acclaim when they were heralded by Woodrow Wilson as the voice of embattled and then victorious democracy against imperialism and militarism. It is natural that in the reaction from the long light made on those ideals in the senate and the tempestuous chaos of the 1920 political campaign there should be a calm and that other question of more local concern, presented by the abortive performances of a new national administration, should occupy chiefly the public mind. But the Wilson ideals are not "deceased." It is inevitable that at the proper time they will be revived, more vital than ever, under the leadership of some such champion as Cox, who will stand for them as he stands for them now and stood for them two years ago.

Mr. Cox's statement regarding the work which the League of Nations has done and is doing will be a revelation to many who are not familiar with its unblazoned record. It was a plain, authoritative statement of facts, undistorted by bias and uncolored by rhetoric. Indeed, that was the character of his whole speech. There was in it no flamboyant flubdub of the political spellbinder. It was a straightforward marshaling of truths by a man who knew what he was talking about, whether he was talking about the League of Nations; the administration's pitifully petty practice in dealing with the league; the hypocrisy and cowardice of its course with reference to the international Court of Justice; the farcial and faithless record of the Sixty-seventh congress; or the recent conference for the limitation of armaments.

Mr. Cox's speech last week in New York was interpreted jubilantly by some of the Republicans at Washington as an assurance that the Democrats would make the League of Nations their issue in this year's campaign. To Moses it divided the waters of a stormy sea for a safe passage on dry land, while in McCormick it brewed inspiration to arise and effervesce his joy in the senate. There is a special paragraph in Mr. Cox's Louisville speech that will bring no comfort to these gentlemen. "Our Republican friends," it runs, "seem to be very much distressed about what the issue will be as presented in the congressional election this year. I hope that I can give some measure of relief to their suspense when I assure them that the campaign this year will be fought on the sins of omission and the sins of commission on the part of the present Republican administration. When the record is made, and we shall make it, of the bad things that have been done and the good things that might have been done, then a triumphant issue will have been developed."

The league is not to be forgotten this year, but a Democratic congress now could not take us into the league, and it is not until 1924 that Democrats like Cox mean to press "the suggestion that the issue as to whether America shall or shall not enter the League of Nations will be one of the cardinal principles of Democracy until America takes its place at the table of the League of Nations in Geneva, Switzerland."

Cox himself is clearly a captain. There is one reason why he comprehends so well that "the chief difficulty in Washington now is that there is no captain of the ship." It would be a fine thing for the Republicans if they had either in congress or in the White House a captain like Cox. It would also be a fine thing for the Democrats if they were captained by a Cox, instead of sitting around grinning at, and counting on, the mistakes of the Republicans, when they are not falling over themselves to join in some particularly flagrant mistake like the bonus bill. —Courier-Journal.

Everett Wilson was a cattle buyer on Red river last week.

Mrs. Maude Treadway and daughter, Ida May, have returned to their cottage after many months at other places.

The excessive rainfall has been very detrimental to gardening which bids fair to be later than common this spring. The heavy rains the last few weeks have started many washes in farming land that will demand attention or serious soil loss will continue.

Grass is very far advanced for the season. Wheat and meadows are looking fine.

Serious loss to tobacco plants by many is reported from an insect called a flea. The insect eats the plant.

Have you tested or carefully looked at your seed corn. Last year's corn is not going to be good seed in most instances.

Mrs. Clemmie Pondleton is visiting her sisters, Miss Ricketts and Mrs. Emma Pondleton.

The crowd was so light to hear Mr. Harrison, of Lexington, on a farmers' union a few night ago that he did not make an address.

Mrs. Scottie Norris left Saturday for Paris, leaving there Monday for her return trip to California. Mr. and Mrs. Norris have purchased a home in South Pasadena, where they will locate at once.

The sudden death of Mrs. Menrietta (more familiarly known as "Kittie") Anderson was a shock to her host of friends in this community who held her in highest esteem. Her memory will long be cherished. Mrs. Anderson had only a few months ago left here for California to be with more of her children in her last allotted years, which proved to be only weeks.

B. C. HAGERMAN DIES ON COAST

The Rev. Barton Campbell Hagerman, former president of Hamilton College and founder of the Campbell-Hagerman College, Lexington, died Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at his home in Los Angeles, Cal.

The Rev. Mr. Hagerman was born and reared in Anderson county. He attended the old Kentucky University and later Bethany College, West Virginia. He married Miss Mamie Campbell, a granddaughter of Alexander Campbell, leader of the Disciples of Christ.

For many years he was a teacher in Bethany College and was acting president of that institution at the time he was called to Lexington to be president of Hamilton College, which position he held for five years.

In 1903 he established Campbell-Hagerman College on Second street, Lexington. In that year he built the Hagerman Hall and later Duff Chapel, both four-story buildings. The college was closed after seven years.

The body of Mr. Hagerman may be brought to Bethany, W. Va., where his wife is buried.

In addition to his educational activities in Kentucky, the Rev. Mr. Hagerman at one time was associated with Charles P. Williamson in the Madison Institute, a girls' school, at Richmond, Va. He was the owner of considerable property in Lexington, including the building of the former Campbell-Hagerman College.

Produce Review

Bad roads, due to rainy weather, have held back considerably the receipts of eggs, and as a consequence, the market has shown some advance. The general opinion seems to be that production is very heavy and prospects are favorable for heavy receipts in the next few weeks, which will possibly bring about lower values, as the present level seems to be higher than the consuming trade cares to pay.

Bad weather conditions have resulted in a smaller quantity of butterfat being marketed, and as the demand for butter is very heavy at the present time, the market has shown some advance. The present rains, however, should mean better pastures and heavier production within the next few weeks, resulting in lower prices.

There has been a good demand in the past few weeks for live poultry for the Jewish holidays, but with these now past, the general tendency will be for lower values.
